A short paragraph about the positive impact of the project on your Company:

Following the implementation of the planning actions, we will have conscientious tourists with a state of increased responsibility. Following the creation of an alliance of local eco-investors, we will have new partnerships and also new suppliers, which will lead to the construction of an eco-green-sustainable future. In parallel, we will put into action the "pay as you throw" scheme and use the principle, "the polluter pays".

The need to implement sustainable production, installation and consumption models, including eco-efficient technologies, is increasingly highlighted.

The circular economy proposes an approach to optimizing the consumption of resources by identifying and applying in practice secondary but essential resources.
